

“That was atmospherically the lightest and intellectually the weightiest training I’ve ever experienced.”

Delegate on Leadership Programme for a global bank.

Kevin Cherry

Location: United Kingdom.

Languages: English.

All the expertise: Coach, Trainer, Facilitator.

My best story

“I never thought I’d be pleased to hear the words - Mr Cherry’s external genitalia are unremarkable.”

Overview

“Whatever you have achieved till now, you will always have the capacity to surprise yourself”.

Not only does Kevin hold this to be true of you, it’s a belief that drives him to coach, challenge and provoke his clients to surprising levels of skills mastery, business performance and personal and professional satisfaction. Despite his reputation for warmth and humour he is quite prepared to be ‘the grit in the oyster’. If provocation and challenge is what is needed, Kevin is prepared to provide it and does so with creativity, wit and flair.

Areas of Expertise

- Developing coaching mastery
- Personal mastery
- Applying improvisation to business and personal development
- Creativity and innovation
- Personal presence
- Corporate Jester
- Train the Trainer

Licence to Practice

Prior to his consultancy in coaching, training and facilitation, Kevin worked in Financial Services for a decade. In most recent years he has performed professionally as a stand-up comedian, actor and improviser. A particular gift of Kevin’s is joining seemingly unrelated dots to great effect and as such, his more recent training and experience as an actor and improvisational comedian has borne surprising professional fruit, including his contribution to a recent publication on confidence.

- Executive Coach and a developer of coaches, trained under Sir John Whitmore
- NLP Master Practitioner and a Kaizen Blackbelt (running the Advanced Coach Development)
- A Member of The Association for Coaching
- MBTI, TMP and Lifestyles Inventory Practitioner
